Welcome

The Indian economy grew at 6.8% in 2018-19 and has emerged as the fastest growing major economy in the world. It is expected to be one of the top three economic powers of the world over the next 10-15 years backed by its strong democracy and partnerships.

India recently concluded its general elections and we feel that the decisive election results will propel India's growth pace to the next orbit and drive the transformation of the country. A focused and comprehensive agenda for addressing corruption has delivered outstanding results in the last five years. Game-changing reforms such as introduction of Goods and Services Tax (GST), Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, lowering of tax rates for small enterprises, ease of doing business, FDI reforms and so on have created the right environment for industry to flourish.

The Government has taken up Ease of Doing Business in a mission mode and has achieved a phenomenal jump in the World Bank Doing Business report rankings of 53 places in the last two years to 77th rank. State governments too have been proactively setting up single window clearance systems and time-bound administrative procedures. Across the country, the investment and business climate has improved notably.

In addition, notable policies for improving the intellectual property regime, creation of new investment vehicles and others have been instituted. Spectacular achievements such as Jan Dhan Yojana, distribution of gas cylinders, complete electrification of all villages, construction of 15 million houses, quick progress in roads and highways, and many others clearly show the dedicated commitment of the Government to rapid development and the scale and efficiency of its work.

I hope the discussions here at Horasis would contribute to a better understanding of the momentous changes that have taken place in the country since we last met and the new phase of transformation that has just begun in India.
